Essential ingredients in Seni Care products:

ALLANTOIN moisturizes, soothes and smooths the skin by increasing the water content of the upper layers of the epidermis.

ARGININE helps to build new cells in the epidermis to speed recovery of chafed and damaged skin.

CANOLA OIL, GRAPESEED OIL and SHEA BUTTER are emollients that form a thin film on the surface of the skin and make the external layers of the skin (epidermis) softer and more pliable by reducing evaporation and water loss.

CITRONELLYL METHYLCROTONATE is a lemon grass extract that neutralizes urine odor.

FLAX SEED BIOCOMPLEX (extract and oil) is an occlusive and skin conditioning agent that nourishes and softens the skin.

FLAX SEED EXTRACT is a skin conditioning agent that nourishes and softens the skin.

GLYCERINE is a humectant that helps to hydrate the skin, thus smoothing it.

PANTHENOL is a humectant that moisturizes the skin and soothes irritation.

UREA is a humectant that helps to hydrate the skin, thus smoothing and protecting it. It is a principal component of the NMF (Natural Moisturizing Factor) that healthy skin creates. The level of NMF in the epidermis decreases with age, so its important components should be reconstituted using skin-care products.

The skin is the largest organ of the human body.

Its surface is about 16-21.5 ft²

The skin protects the whole organism against harmful external factors like high temperature, dry air, bacteria, detergents, etc. Contact with these factors can leave the skin dry and irritated.

Proper care can reduce the unpleasant symptoms of dry skin and prevent new lesions.

To provide a more skin-friendly environment it is important to use vapor permeable incontinence products.

When the skin ages, it becomes weaker and more prone to problems. People with incontinence are especially vulnerable, as the skin in their intimate area is constantly exposed to moisture and irritants from urine and feces, which can lead to chafing and sores.

Seni offers a wide range of highly absorbent, vapor permeable products as well as skin care products to help promote healthy skin.
